

Barbara Vestergaard and Marita Vestergaard í Lágabø are the women behind the exciting project Vesturgarður. They will tell about how they found a simple and nature-friendly way to wash the Faroese wool.

The uniqueness of Vesturgarður's products is that everything is made from scratch; The wool is sorted, washed, dried, picked, carded, spun and then knitted by hand. All production takes place at Suðuroy, and all the wool comes from the local environment.

This is definitely "slow fashion" in the truest sense of the word, and the unique approach also ensures that each item is unique.

Follow us on Facebook: Vesturgarður ullavask

